

BRIEF POEMS - 2

by David L. Hatton

WAT?

That fatty cat sat splat at rat's batty flat.

— 1/22/2020

DISAPPOINTMENT'S COMFORT

Dress the wound of disappointment,
as you kneel and pray,
sensing soothing Spirit ointment spread its healing sway.

— 1/30/2020

COPY ARTISTS

When artists copy nudes and nature,
They praise the work of their Creator,
But if the credit due is missed,
They're all ungrateful plagiarists.

— 2/1/2020

PRAYER

Prayer's innate reflex, hidden in the human heart—
by Heaven sown but showered sore with sorrow's rain—implores what earth's invested efforts can't impart, helps trust to sprout and hope to thrive, despite the pain.

— 3/3/2020