

SEX

It's such a fragile gift of God
Demanding love's security,
A life-long delicate embrace,
For safe and holy happiness.

When you tear off the pleasant wrap
Before those sacred, solemn vows,
You may become destructive thieves
Of gifts God meant for someone else.

— David L. Hatton, 9/8/1991